

Prof. Dr. Nikolaos Mardas, DDS, MS, PhD

Dr Nikos Mardas qualified in Dentistry from Athens University in 1992; He completed his 3-year specialist training as an MS degree in Periodontology in 1997 and his PhD degree in 2005 at the Royal Dental College, University of Aarhus, Denmark. After 5 years in private practice limited to periodontics and implant surgery, he moved to London where during the period 2005-2015 was a Senior Lecturer / Honorary Specialist and program co-ordinator in Periodontology Unit, at UCL, Eastman Dental Institute. In July 2015, he was appointed Senior Clinical Lecturer & Consultant in Periodontology in QMUL, Barts & The London School of Medicine & Dentistry, Queen Mary University of London. He is also Honorary Senior Lecturer in UCL, Eastman Dental Institute and Associate Periodontist & Implant Surgeon in 4 private practices. He has published more than 50 papers in peer review international journals and has lectured extensively nationally and internationally. He is editorial board member of Clinical Oral Implant Research and 2 other journals and a regular invited reviewer for all the major international journals of his field. He has participated in consensus meetings of EAO, EFP, ITI and EADE. In 2011 was awarded the Basic Research Prize, of the European Association for Osseointegration and in March 2015 was appointed Education Delegate for the UK & Ireland ITI section. Dr Mardas has more than 20 years of private practice and university / hospital based clinical experience in treatment of periodontal diseases including conventional and regenerative periodontal surgery, periodontal plastic surgery, alveolar bone augmentation procedures and dental implants.